REPORT

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1874.

DURING the year 1874 the London Fever Hospital has again been found to be not only useful but necessary. After the establishment of the Fever Asylums, and the removal to them of the pauper patients who had for many years been treated at this Hospital, and had formed a large majority of the patients admitted, it appeared as if the mission of the Institution had come to an end. In 1872 the admissions were only 182, and in 1873 only 167; and at the annual meeting at the close of these years resolutions were passed requesting the Committee to consider whether some plan could not be devised for rendering the large amount of hospital space in excess of any probable requirement for Fever available for other purposes. The Committee had devoted much time to the discussion of various projects, and were still engaged in the inquiry when the metropolis was visited by an epidemic of Scarlet Fever, and the Hospital began to fill. The south wing, which for more than two years had alone been occupied, soon became insufficient to afford accommodation for the increasing numbers, together with isolation of the different Fevers; and the north wing had to be prepared for the reception of cases. The total number admitted during the year has been 384, of whom 186 were males, and 194 females, 331 being cases of Fever, 54 diseases of some other kind.

The number of cases of Fever admitted during the year was as follows :—

Of Typhus Fever 20 cases were admitted, 6 of which were sent from other hospitals, four were admitted by payment (one policeman being included in this number), and one by a Governor's order; the remaining nine belonged to the class which are received free. Of the 21 cases of Typhus Fever treated to their termination within the year, five died, making the percentage of deaths 23·8.

The number of cases of Enteric Fever admitted was 77, being 16 in excess of the admissions in 1873; 45 were males, 32 females. Only one case of Enteric Fever occupied a private ward, and of the whole number 38 were admitted by payment, 39 free. In the previous year only 21 cases were admitted, without either payment or letters from Governors, so that the increase in numbers is entirely by free admissions, showing that the fact that the Hospital is open to them is becoming more generally known among the artisan classes. During the year the reports of the Registrar-General have shown that there has been comparatively little Enteric Fever in London; and it is probable that at some time this disease will make greater demands on the Hospital.

The number of deaths among the cases of Enteric Fever admitted during the year has been 13, of which 7 were males, 6 females. The general mortality per cent. has thus been 16·88; of the male patients, 15·5 per cent., of the females, 18·75 per cent. have died. Deducting two cases who died within twenty-four hours of admission, the general mortality is reduced to 14·28 per cent.

Scarlet Fever is the disease which has predominated during the year, the number of admissions having been 207, 93 males and 114 females, as compared with 45 in 1873. Six patients suffering from Scarlatina were treated in the private wards, and in all 142 cases were admitted by payment, while 9 presented Governors' orders, and 56 were received free. A large proportion (43) of the free admissions belonged to the artisan class. Of the patients who paid on admission, 42 were domestic servants, 22 were from houses of business, 16 from schools, 15 from other hospitals, and 17 from charitable institutions of other kinds; 7 were mechanics, 6 policemen, and 11 small tradesmen. These particulars possess great interest as showing the extent to which the Hospital has fulfilled its purpose of checking the spread of this most contagious fever by affording facilities for the removal of cases from places in and from which it would almost certainly have extended widely. They show also the great variety of circumstances in which prompt removal of cases of Scarlet Fever may be required. It has only been during the last seven months that Scarlatina has prevailed extensively. Up to the end of May only 21 cases had been admitted. In June and July the monthly admissions were 15, while in the remaining six months they have averaged 31; and it may be worthy of remark that the fall in the numbers received at the Fever Asylums has not been accompanied up to the present moment by a corresponding reduction in the admissions at this Hospital.

The deaths from Scarlet Fever during the year have been 14 in number, or 6·76 per cent. of the whole number of cases treated to their termination. Among the males the mortality was 6·45 per cent., among the females 7·01. Deducting from these numbers one who died within 24 hours of admission, the general mortality becomes 6·28 per cent.

There have been no changes among the officers during the past year; but the Committee regret to learn that the Hospital is likely to lose the services of the Resident Medical Officer.

While it was doubtful, from the small number of cases of fever presenting themselves for treatment, how far the Hospital would be required, the Committee hesitated to incur the expenses necessary for repairs, and for certain alterations long seen to be desirable. When, however, it became obvious that the accommodation afforded by the Hospital would be as necessary as ever, no time was lost in beginning the improvements, which have consisted chiefly in the removal of certain rooms too small and dark for use, the opening of new windows in the cross-wards previously blocked up by the rooms pulled down, and the provision of new lavatories and closets. These, with minor changes, cleansing, and repairs, have involved considerable expense, which could only be defrayed out of the invested capital of the Hospital. The Committee, however, could not hesitate to sanction expenditure, however large, which was necessary thoroughly to adapt the Institution to its stated purposes, and to fit the wards for the reception and treatment of the better class of patients who now seek admission.

Another cause of increased expenditure is found in the increasing number of the artisan classes admitted without payment. From the time that the Hospital was relieved from the responsibility of providing for paupers, it has been seen by the Committee that, in addition to the provision of accommodation for domestic servants, clerks, employés in large houses of business, &c., an extensive field for the exercise of its two main objects—the prevention of the spread of contagious fever and the treatment of these affections—would be furnished by the artisan classes. Formerly some of these were driven by fever to the relieving officer and made paupers for the purpose of obtaining admission into a fever hospital, while others, unwilling to take this step, which they felt to be a degradation, but unable to pay an admission fee, were treated at home, often in crowded rooms and houses which offered every facility for the spread of contagion.

The admission fee was consequently abandoned, except in the case of those well able to pay it, and of domestic servants and those similarly situated removed for the convenience and safety of employers. This fact, notwithstanding every effort on the part of the Committee, has only very slowly become known to the classes interested, but there is now evidence that it is well known and appreciated. Some parishes have indeed shown a disposition to take advantage of the free admission and to throw their paupers upon the charity, but, up to the present, attempts of this kind have been defeated. The number of artisans admitted without payment has increased very considerably during the past year, and may be expected to increase still more in the future. Already this new source of expense has caused the expenditure to fall short of the income ; but the Committee has every confidence from past experience that the public will support it in the endeavour to extend the usefulness of the Hospital.

Of the two plans in contemplation at the time of the last annual meeting, neither has been carried out. The increase in the number of patients having required a considerable increase in the staff of nurses, the entire energies of the Resident Medical Officer have been needed to obtain a sufficient number of nurses qualified for the duties of a fever hospital to carry on the work of the Hospital, and there has been no opportunity of training nurses who might be sent out on hire. The establishment of a Convalescent Home, again, for patients recovering from scarlet fever, has not yet been found practicable ; but such a Home is on every account most desirable, for the reasons given in the last Report.

Secretary.

LONDON FEVER HOSPITAL,

LIVERPOOL ROAD, ISLINGTON.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

Objects of the Institution.

1. ALL poor persons (not being parochial paupers) and domestic servants of subscribers, labouring under contagious fever, and residing in the metropolis or its neighbourhood, shall be considered proper objects for this charity, and shall be admitted gratuitously, according to the next regulation. Parochial paupers, domestic servants of non-subscribers, and all inmates of other public charities (except medical hospitals), shall be admitted on the payment of such sum for each patient as the Committee shall from time to time determine.

2. On application for the admission of any patient to the Hospital, notice shall be immediately given to the resident medical officer, and the person after inspection may be admitted by an order signed by him, or on a certificate signed by any physician, surgeon, or apothecary, stating the disease to be fever of a contagious nature, or likely to become such. The order or certificate shall entitle the patient to admission, subject to the provisions contained in Rule No. 1, unless the case shall be deemed an improper one by the resident medical officer, or unless the Hospital shall be full.

Governors.

3. All subscribers of one guinea annually, or of ten guineas in one donation, shall be governors of this Hospital.

General Meeting and Election of the Committee.

4. A general meeting of the governors, of which ten days' previous notice must be given in three morning newspapers, shall be held every year, on the second Friday in February, or as near thereto as may be convenient, for the purpose of approving or rescinding the proceedings of the Committee for the preceding year; for receiving an annual report of the state of the funds; and for electing a president, vice-presidents, treasurer, honorary secretary, and other members of the Committee for the ensuing year. At all meetings connected with the affairs of the Hospital, a simple majority of the governors present and voting shall bind the minority; and in case of equality of votes, the chairman shall have an additional vote or casting vote.

5. A special general meeting of the governors may at any time be called by direction of the president or of the Committee; or on the requisition of any twelve governors, provided the requisition be made in writing to the Secretary, and the purpose for which the same is summoned be published in three morning newspapers at least ten days prior to the next meeting; but the proceedings of such special general meeting, though acted upon pro tempore, shall not be deemed final, until confirmed by another general meeting.

6. No new rule or law shall be made, nor shall any existing rule or law be repealed or altered, until determined upon at a general meeting by a majority of governors present and voting, and until confirmed at a subsequent general or special meeting.

7. The presence of seven governors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum at general meetings, and without that number no business shall be transacted.

8. At the annual general meeting, a Committee for the management of the Institution shall be elected, consisting of the president, the vice-presidents, the treasurer, honorary secretary, and twenty-four other governors; four of which governors shall not have been members of the preceding Committee. They shall meet on the last Friday, or on such other day of every month as the Committee may appoint; and three members shall be necessary to constitute a meeting, and to transact business. A special meeting of the Committee may be called by the direction of the treasurer, or by any three members of the Committee, on giving at least three days' notice of the same, and specifying the business for which it is called.

9. The Committee shall have authority to appoint sub-committees, whose reports shall be submitted to their consideration; they shall elect all the officers, except the physicians of the Hospital and the honorary secretary, who shall be elected by the governors at large; and, with the assistance of the medical officers, shall form regulations and bye-laws for the internal management of the Hospital.

10. The resolutions of one meeting of the Committee shall not be rescinded by another, unless it be specially summoned for that purpose. All accounts, except such small sums as may be comprised under the item of petty cash, shall be submitted to the Committee at the monthly meetings, after having been duly examined by the secretary, the resident medical officer, and the house-directors; and such accounts, if approved, shall be paid by cheques payable to order, signed in Committee by the chairman and one other member, or, in case a Committee cannot be formed, by two of the house-directors, and in all cases countersigned by the secretary. All the larger articles of supply, when practicable, shall be furnished by contract made after public tender. No expenditure for repairs of premises or any machinery shall be incurred, without a written order from the Committee or house-directors.

11. The Committee shall yearly publish a report of the state of the Hospital.

12. No person being a member of the Committee shall furnish for profit any goods, provisions, or other articles, for the use of, or on account of, the Hospital, or be concerned in any contract for supplying the same, or be employed for hire, or wages, or profit, in any office or employment under the charity.
